

Conclusion

Hard work breeds success. Reflection is key after projects are completed. True learning is done through metacognition and evaluation. Process your part in the project and complete the steps below.

1. Visit other utopian societies (done in class).
2. Write a reflection:
 - a. What was your group trying to accomplish? Did you succeed? Why or why not?
 - b. What would you change about the groups approach to the project? What did the group do well? What did the group struggle with?
 - c. What did you like about the project? What was difficult? What was easy?
 - d. What grade does your project deserve? Why? Please have your rubric along side as you assess yourself.
